Training at civilian institutions, other than outlined in this regulation, is governed by AR 621-1 and AR 621-5. Army Medical Department officer personnel refer to AR 351-3. The Judge Advocate General's Funded Legal Education Program is described in AR 27-1.

1-2. References

Required and related publications and prescribed and referenced forms are listed in appendix A.

1-3. Explanation of abbreviations and terms

Abbreviations and special terms used in this regulation are explained in the glossary.

1-4. Statutory authority

Section 2603, Title 10, United States Code permits members of the Armed Forces to accept certain fellowships, scholarships, and related benefits.

Section II Responsibilities

1-5. Vice Chief of Staff, Army

The Vice Chief of Staff, Army (VCSA) is the approval authority for increases to fellowship ceilings.

1-6. Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Plans

The Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Plans (DCSOPS) is the ARSTAF proponent for the education of Army personnel participating in programs under this regulation, and is the approving and exception authority for Army Fellowship policy and guidance, and proposed changes to the Army Fellowship Program.

1-7. Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel

The Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel (DCSPER) is the ARSTAF proponent for personnel policy for programs in this regulation.

1-8. Commanding General, US Total Army Personnel Command

The Commanding General, US Total Army Personnel Command—

a. Processes applications to compete for non-MEL Army fellowships and scholarships and is the approving authority, in coordination with the respective donor, for the acceptance of scholarships. The US Total Army Personnel Command (PERSCOM) point of contact for questions concerning scholarships is CDR, PERSCOM, ATTN: TAPC-OPB-D, 200 Stovall Street, Alexandria, VA 22332-0411.

b. Slates officers, in coordination with DCSOPS, for senior service college fellowships and recommends, for DCSOPS approval, utilization/follow on assignments.

1-9. United States Army Student Detachment

The United States Army Student Detachment (USASD) is responsible for the Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ), leave requests, and administrative matters of scholarship students. Questions concerning these matters should be addressed to CDR, USASD, Building 5450, Strom Thurmond Soldier Support Center, Fort Jackson, South Carolina 29207-5000.

1-10. The DCSOPS Administrative Executive

The DCSOPS Administrative Executive is responsible for the administrative support of Army senior fellows participating in civilian affiliated Army senior fellowships and the fellowship at the George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies. (See para 6-2 and 6-3.) Questions concerning administrative issues should be addressed to Headquarters, Department of the Army, Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Plans, ATTN: DAMO-ZXA, 400 Army Pentagon (Room 3D543), Washington, DC 20310-0400 (703-697-8533, DSN 227-8533).

1-11. Department of the Army Fellowship Review Committee

The Department of the Army Fellowship Review Committee (DAFRC) is the advisory body that makes recommendations to the DCSOPS on all matters concerning policy for the Army Fellowship Program and on the addition or deletion of specific fellowships or fellowship programs.

a. The DAFRC normally meets during the first and fourth quarters of each fiscal year and reviews, as a minimum, the following:

(1) Selected fellowships for validity, relevancy, and fellowship performance.

(2) Recommendations for changes to current fellowships.

(3) Proposals for new fellowships.

b. The DAFRC voting members are—

(1) Deputy Director for Strategy, Plans and Policy, ODCSOPS, (chairperson).

(2) Director, Army Fellowship Program, ODCSOPS (recorder).

(3) Director, USAWC SSCFP Program.

(4) Chief, Individual Training Branch, Army National Guard, National Guard Bureau.

(5) Chief, Officer Division, ODCSPER.

The DAFRC will recommend, for DCSOPS approval, separate annual ceilings for Senior Service College fellowships, Army Senior fellowships, and non-MEL fellowships. Fellowship ceilings will be established prior to 1 September.

a. Ceilings will be established and managed by programs based on the following:

(1) Evaluation. Fellowship proposals and programs will be assessed/evaluated by the DAFRC based on whether the fellowship meets specific fellowship program criteria, the overall value to, and affordability for, the Army and the overall value to the individual. Based on this evaluation, the DAFRC will forward its recommendation for approval or disapproval for establishment/continuance to the DCSOPS.

(2) Active Army. PERSCOM will identify "what the force can afford" with regard to Active Army participation in fellowships in view of overall personnel requirements.

(3) Reserve Components (RC). Army Reserve Components will comply with established fellowship ceilings. Requests for increases in fellowship participation by RC personnel will be approved, initially, by the Director, Army National Guard (DARNG) or Chief, Army Reserve (CAR). The RC request will then be forwarded through the DAFRC, for evaluation and appropriate recommendation, to the DCSOPS and, if necessary, the VCSA for approval.

b. Respective fellowship ceiling "start points" are the number of personnel assigned to fellowship programs during the current year.

1-13. Fellowship review

The DAFRC evaluates all proposals to establish new fellowships and reviews existing fellowships for continued relevancy and adherence to established fellowship criteria. The DAFRC follows the guidelines in appendices C and D when evaluating fellowships. Fellowships will be reviewed within 24 months of their initiation and, at a minimum, every three years afterward. (See appendix F for review process.)

2-5. Length of academic study or research tours

Academic study or research tours will normally not exceed 24 consecutive months. The tour may be extended for an additional year upon submission of evidence of satisfactory performance and renewal of the fellowship or scholarship. (1) The soldier's initial financial statement will include an accounting of all benefits conferred by the fellowship or scholarship. This accounting will include any amounts specified by the program for travel, transportation of property, housing, or living expenses, and will describe any other benefits conferred by the fellowship or scholarship. If definite figures are not available, the soldier will describe the benefit and an estimate of its value.

(2) Appropriate payments, adjustments, or collections will be made from the soldier's pay account and settlement vouchers, in accordance with the instructions contained in AR 37-104-4 and the Joint Federal Travel Regulations.

writing, to remain on active duty upon completion or termination of training/education for a period of not less than three times the length of the training or education, computed in days. Active duty service obligation begins the day following the end date of the soldier's academic evaluation report (AER), officer evaluation report (OER), or non-commissioned officer evaluation report (NCOER) for the training period.

b. Soldiers participating in non-MEL fellowships incur, and must agree in writing, to an active duty service obligation of two years. The active duty service obligation begins on the day following the end date of the fellow's evaluation report.

2-11. Utilization/follow-on assignment

Soldiers completing a scholarship program under the provision of this regulation will be assigned, normally for 2 years, to either an Army Educational Requirements System (AERS) validated position (if educational experience is degree producing) or to a position in which the benefits of the education will be used immediately upon completion. Soldiers completing a non-MEL fellowship will be assigned to a two-year utilization tour to begin within five years of completion of the fellowship.

2-14. Arrangement of courses

Each soldier in a scholarship program will arrange courses to meet his or her own special needs. Each individual will, in consultation with the dean or head of the academic department concerned, select the curriculum that provides the greatest opportunity to gain knowledge in the chosen field of study.

2-15. Annual review

a. Upon completion of each academic year, each soldier attending school under this regulation will submit an itemized statement to the USASD, Fort Jackson, South Carolina 29207-5000 and include the following information:

Chapter 5 Army Senior Service College Fellowship Program

Section I Overview

5-1. General

This chapter establishes policy and program guidance governing the Army Senior Service College Fellowships for which MEL-1 credit is awarded.

5-2. Senior Service College Fellowship Program objective.

The objective of the Senior Service College Fellowship Program (SSCFP) is to fulfill Army requirements for senior officers with an MEL-1 educational experience by providing selected officers with special expertise in subject matter areas for which comparable expertise cannot reasonably be acquired through resident attendance at a senior service college.

5-3. Standards, criteria, and validations

a. Fellowships must provide Army officers with an educational experience that is equivalent in quality to the standard course program at a senior service college and enhance the ability of participants to—

(1) Serve during peace and war in Army, joint, or combined command and staff positions of broad scope and responsibility.

(2) Work within diverse and ambiguous environments, dealing with problems having no clear-cut solutions.

(3) Become a self-motivated innovator and initiator of policy, working in the present and dealing with the future.

(4) Work effectively within the interlocking levels of national security policy, strategy, joint and combined planning, and within the nature and application of all forms of military power.

b. Army officers participating in fellowships represent the Army to external audiences and facilitate communication between the Army and the sponsoring institution.

Senior Service College Fellowship Categories

5–9. Category I senior service college fellowships managed and administered by the USAWC

Fellowships at a number of different sites are granted annually, for a period of up to one year. Upon completion, fellows are awarded the USAWC fellowship certificate of completion in place of a resident diploma. Encompassed in this category are the academic, regional, and specialized fellowships. Academic fellowships provide a strategically-oriented experience equivalent in quality to the standard senior service college course. Regional fellowships, likewise, provide a strategic orientation, but have a decidedly regional focus. Specialized fellowships, also equivalent to the standard course, tend to focus on narrower functional areas. The specialized fellowship will expose the fellow to the highest level of command, staff, and operational elements within the area of concentration, and allow the fellow to interact with the highest level of leadership in that specialized area. (See appendix B.)

5–10. Category II DOD service school affiliated fellowships

Advanced Operational Art Studies Fellowship is a 24-month program at the Army School of Advanced Military Studies at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. This fellowship focuses on theater level planning and execution of theater campaigns for war and operations other than war.

5–11. Category III Army Reserve Component sponsored fellowships

The Director, Army National Guard and the Chief, Army Reserve select officers for one-year fellowships, in lieu of attendance at the USAWC.

Chapter 6 Army Senior Fellowship Program

Section I Overview

6-1. General

This chapter establishes policies and procedures for the Army Senior Fellowship Program (ASFP). The ASFP affords senior officers the opportunity to study issues of national importance in association with individuals and agencies, in and out of government, who are actively involved in influencing the formulation and execution of US foreign and domestic policies. The provisions of this chapter apply to all Army Senior Fellowships (ASF) and senior fellows. All ASFs are post-MEL-1 programs.

6-2. Civilian affiliated fellowships

These fellowships are normally one-year programs, beginning in mid- to late summer. (See table 6-1 for fellowship descriptions and selection criteria.) Current civilian affiliated ASFs include—

- a. Military Fellowship Program at the Council on Foreign Relations.
- b. Harvard Center for International Affairs (CFIA) Fellowship.
- c. Brookings Institution Federal Executive Fellowship.
- d. Department of State Senior Seminar in Foreign Policy Fellowship.

6-3. George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies

One senior fellow is chosen annually for a one-year program at the George C. Marshall Center in Garmisch, Germany. The fellowship begins in August of each year and terminates in June of the following year. (See table 6-1 for fellowship descriptions and selection criteria.)

6-4. Chief of Staff, Army Strategic Fellows Program

The Chief of Staff, Army Strategic Fellows (CSASF) Program is a two-year program consisting of two to four senior fellows at the US Army War College (USAWC). These officers are assigned to the Strategic Studies Institute, USAWC, beginning in mid-summer of their first year.

Section II Policies

Prospective candidates must have achieved MEL-1 qualification, be a lieutenant colonel (promotable) or colonel, have at least 19 but no more than 26 years of AFCS at fellowship start date, and have volunteered or acceded to nomination. The ODCSPER forwards a slate of candidates (assembled by PERSCOM) to ODCSOPS, which nominates one officer to the CSA for each fellowship. Sequential procedures for selecting nominees are—

Appendix B Senior Service College Fellowship Program Standards, Criteria, and Goals

B-1. General

a. The USAWC resident and correspondence courses are the standard for MEL-1 validation. Senior service college (SSC) fellowships must provide officers with an educational experience equivalent in quality to the resident course program.

b. The primary goal of all fellowships is professional development. Officers who participate in the SSCFP forego any other opportunity for MEL-1 education. MEL-1 credit will be granted to senior Army officers who successfully complete at least a nine-month program. The program must be academically structured to provide an educational experience requiring fellows to study and evaluate critically broad National security policy, strategy, and operational issues to substantially enhance their ability, as senior Army leaders, to participate effectively in the formulation and implementation of National security policy.

c. An additional objective of the SSCFP is to enhance the communications between the Army and important academic and policy institutions. Fellows play an important role in the Army Strategic Outreach Program as representatives of the Army. Officers in more highly specialized careers (such as scientists, program managers, and medical and legal professions) may benefit from alternative programs that focus on their particular area.

d. SSC fellowship research projects will focus on areas identified as important to the Army by the CSA and the DCSOPS, and may be individual or group projects. Research focus will be fully coordinated with the sponsoring agencies prior to the beginning of the fellowship year. Follow-on assignments for SSC fellows will be linked, when appropriate, to their respective research projects.

B-2. Evaluation of SSC Fellowships

a. Standards for evaluating fellowships should be as objective as possible.

b. The following standards apply to all SSC fellowships:

(1) An MEL-1 equivalent fellowship must be at least nine months in duration, but normally will not exceed one year.

(2) The focus and content of the fellowship curriculum clearly must be educational, as opposed to operational. Fellows must have access to individuals at the highest levels of the fellowship-sponsoring agency or institution. The fellowship is not designed to augment an agency or institution staff in the performance of its duties. The fellowship should help clarify the linkages between National strategy and strategic-level considerations of conflict in both joint and combined operations. The focus is to clarify the factors relating to the application of military power at the strategic level. This includes all elements of military readiness and strategic decision-making.

c. An academic or regional fellowship must provide significant exposure to and/or focus primarily on analysis of the National security factors at the theater and National strategic level. A specialized fellowship in which the strategic level is more difficult to define, such as medical or legal, must expose the fellow to the highest operational and conceptual entity within the specialized area. For example, a specialized fellowship in the Department of Justice would focus at the Attorney General or other political leadership level, and would expose the fellow to the staff leadership elements that directly support the Attorney General. The influence level of those who guide and administer the specialized fellowship should be at the operational, developmental or scientific level. This corresponds with strategic leadership exposure achieved by the student in the standard course program, in relation to the highest echelons of strategic warfighting.

d. Fellowships will be in educationally superior agencies and institutions offering outstanding faculties and specialties.

e. Fellowships will be structured to provide substantive long-term benefits to the individual and the Army.

f. Fellowships will be mutually beneficial to the Army and sponsoring agency or institution.

g. A major research project and paper is required for MEL-1 certification. Each fellow will prepare and submit to the Army War College Fellowship Program Director a research (plus travel) plan, appropriately coordinated and approved at the fellowship sponsoring agency as prescribed in the SSC fellows administrative instructions provided during fellow inprocessing.

h. Submission of at least one research related article for publication in a professional military or strategic publication/journal is required for MEL-1 certification.

i. Application of MEL-1:

(1) As a general rule, any program of study of less than nine months duration, or in which less than 50 percent of the program can reasonably be attributed to satisfaction of the MEL-1 criteria, will not be designated as MEL-1.

(2) Officers will be considered to have achieved MEL-1 upon successful completion of a designated MEL-1 educational experience.

(3) An MEL-1 experience may include training to develop specific technical skills and/or may enhance officer education in subject matter areas only indirectly related to the purpose of an MEL-1 education; however, all designated MEL-1 experiences must, as a minimum, meet the criteria established in this appendix.

(4) To help ensure that SSCFP participants obtain an MEL-1 educational experience and support outreach objectives, the officer selection process will consider the professional experience and background of SSCFP candidates. This will ensure that participants are fully prepared for the unique aspects of the fellowship program for which selected.

(5) While both SSCFP and resident SSC experiences must meet MEL-1 criteria, SSCFP experiences are not otherwise intended to be interchangeable with experiences gained as the result of attendance at a Senior Service College.

j. SSCFP validation criteria.

(1) All fellowships must meet the criteria for MEL-1 and have been designated as MEL-1 by the DAFRC prior to implementation.

(2) Each fellowship should enable the Army to optimally develop designated Army officers for broad categories in which the Army has requirements for senior leaders with special expertise.

(3) The requirement for each fellowship, and the performance of each program as a source of required senior officer development, will be validated annually by the DAFRC.

(4) The performance of each fellowship, with respect to meeting MEL-1 criteria, will be validated triennially by the DAFRC.

(5) Fellowships may take place within DOD and other agency work environments; however, MEL-1 criteria cannot be satisfied through officer participation primarily as a working member of a DOD or other agency, staff, or faculty.

k. Management of the SSCFP validation process.

(1) The DCSOPS will exercise overall responsibility for the SSCFP validation process.

(2) Not later than 1 September annually, the DCSOPS will forward to the DCSOPER and PERSCOM a list of the institutions/agencies identified and validated as approved SSCFP participants.

(3) MEL-1 validation by the DAFRC and the USAWC will occur prior to admission of any institution/agency into the SSCFP, and triennially, thereafter.

Appendix E Army Fellowship and Scholarship Program Proponent Agencies

E-1. Proponent Functions

Designated proponent offices serve as the principal HQDA point of contact for the fellow's research during the fellowship year. The proponent office advises, facilitates, and supports the fellows in their program activities and/or research efforts. In the case of SSC fellowships, the proponent ensures the fellow produces a product useful to the Army and consistent with the MEL-1 experience. Fellows will not be used as external action officers for the proponent agency. For non MEL-1 and post MEL-1 fellows, the proponent keeps the fellow(s) informed of current Army themes and messages and issues important to the CSA and the DCSOPS, and ensures the Army's interests are represented and served as the fellow participates in the various fellowship activities.

E-2. Proponent assignments

a. The Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Plans is the overall proponent for the Army Fellowship Program. Upon approval for inclusion in the Army Fellowship Program, each fellowship will be assigned an Army Staff Directorate or other Army agency as its proponent to execute policies outlined in Section III. Specific ARSTAF proponent offices will be designated based upon the fellowship research focus for a given year.

b. The US Total Army Personnel Command, Development Branch (TAPC-OPB-D) provides Army administrative support for Army non-MEL fellowships.

E-3. Specific policy guidance

Assisting proponent agencies—

- a.* Serve as point of contact for fellow research and advice.
- b.* Support the fellow(s) with selection and, when appropriate, formulation of specific research topic.
- c.* Place fellow on distribution for all information received or generated by the Army, which may assist fellow's research.
- d.* Facilitate research by assisting fellow in gaining access to DOD activities and resources.
- e.* Provide fellow with information, as appropriate, for the respective fellowship, regarding current Army issues/position on policy matters.
- f.* Make recommendations for appropriate follow-on assignment.

Appendix F Army Fellowship Program Review

F-1. Program review process

The DAFRC will establish a review schedule that ensures each fellowship program is reviewed for continued relevancy and accomplishment of stated criteria/objectives. The schedule of reviews must begin within 24 months of fellowship establishment and include a review no less than every 3 years thereafter. This schedule will be provided to fellowship sponsoring agencies and the Army War College.

F-2. Statement of review

Fellowship programs scheduled for formal review by the DAFRC will be notified, in writing, no later than 1 August, for review by the end of the pending fellowship year. This notification will include a statement of the review format and actions required on the part of the sponsoring agency and the fellow(s).

F-3. Content of program review

Fellowship program reviews will consist of—

a. Formal notification of scheduled review (ODCSOPS, DAMO-SSP).

b. On-site visit to fellowship sponsor agency.

(1) Non-MEL Fellowships—Director, Army Fellowship Program (DAMO-SSP).

(2) MEL-1 Fellowships—Director, Army Fellowship Program (DAMO-SSP) and/or Director, Senior Service College Fellowship Program (USAWC).

(3) Army Senior Fellowships—Director, Army Fellowship Program (DAMO-SSP) and a representative from the HQDA fellowship proponent office.
